Wins Four-State Cartoon Contest

Arlea Rae Fetter is shown above with the telegram that brought her the news she was the winner of a four-state cartoon contest.

Arlea Fetter Takes Out Scholarship in Preference to Hollywood Trip.

The last few weeks have been important ones in the life of Arlea Rae Fetter, 11-year-old Marion girl who won a four-state cartoon contest conducted by the Walt Disney Studio, RKO-Pictures, Inc., and radio station WLW in Cincinnati.

In the weeks that have elapsed since the results of the contest were announced, the full significance of winning out over some 3,000 other boys and girls in the creation of a new cartoon character has had a chance to sink in and Arlea, as her friends and family call her, is now over the excitement that accompanied the announcement of her award.

Makes Her Decision
Thinking over the matter carefully, she has decided definitely that she wants to plan a career around her ability to draw. She's not a fancy theorist, and has no idea that she will become a big-name artist or even nationally known, but she can see many opportunities for good jobs as a commercial artist.

Naturally, one of the things that influenced her decision was the award—the choice of a trip to Hollywood or an art scholarship. Although the Hollywood trip is tempting, she plans to make what she regards as the more practical choice and take the scholarship because of the help it would give her toward her new goal.

She had been considering nursing as a profession, but the award shelved those plans. Besides, she had just begun to get interested in drawing and was attending an art class once a week after school to see if she might like that kind of work when the contest and award came along to convince her that she would. She's redoubling her efforts to take advantage of the art class instruction now.

Praised by Judges
Rae won the praise of a group of widely known judges who said her drawing "was chosen because it seems to indicate that the pupil who made it has a keen sense of color harmony and also that she does not depend upon some easily learned formula of expression. It is a spontaneous and original drawing." Rae is determined that the award will not "go to her head," but words like that from expert artists are encouragement to make her feel her decision to plan a career has a substantial foundation.

In the meantime, she's plugging away at her studies in the sixth grade at Pearl Street school, keeping up her Girl Scout work and activities in the junior church at Edgewood M. E. church. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Harold R. Fetter of 24 Orchard street.

REDS REPORT 60,000 NAZIS DIE IN 8 DAYS

5,000 Killed Sunday as Soviet Troops Approach Big Base at Kherson.

By The Associated Press
LONDON, March 13—The Red army battled today to within 22 miles of the big Nazi base of Kherson in the lower Dnieper river, Moscow announced, after slaying 3,000 Germans yesterday to bring to more than 60,000 the number killed in eight days of the massive southern offensive.

The Russians went up 210 more kilometers yesterday, blasting the Proskurov-Gusynin railway leading into Rumania and Hungary and storming into Galvorn on the middle Bug river, 50 miles from Rumania, and close to one of the few intact railways left the Germans in southern Russia, a Soviet communique said.

The bulletin did not mention the fighting at Tarnopol at the upper end of the southern front, but Tass, Soviet news agency, reported earlier the Russians were dislodging the Germans house by house.

The army newspaper Red Star said the Germans were fighting fiercely for every hilltop, stream and road in the Tarnopol sector and another Russian report said a single Russian plane had spotted 400 Nazi tanks coming up to battle.

An advance to within 28 miles of Kherson was made by one Soviet force which struck 18 miles beyond Berislav, captured Saturday, and seized Tyaginka, the communists declared.

The bulletin said other Soviet troops had captured Dolinskaya, key junction of the line leading south to Nikolaev, Nazi river and sea supply port on the Black sea. The Russians last were reported within 30 miles of Nikolaev.

The Proskurov-Gusynin railway was declared severed by Russian forces 4500 to 48 miles north of the Bessarabian frontier.

By The Associated Press
LONDON, March 13—A small formation of American Flying Fortresses bombed military targets in northern France today and although no opposition from enemy aircraft was encountered, two of the bombers were lost.

The Fortresses were escorted by Thunderbolt fighters, the eighth air force announcement said. British Mosquito bombers attacked unspecified targets in western Germany without loss.

American Liberators hit enemy military installations in the Pays de Calais region of France yesterday in the first U. S. heavy bomber operation in months without fighter escort.

All returned home from the foray, their second in as many days without loss against invasion coast objectives. The Germans offered no fighter opposition.

The Liberators mission followed the eighth night blow of the month by RAF Mosquitos which hit the bomb-wrecked port of Hamburg Saturday night for the first time since Jan. 1. One plane failed to return from this and a coordinated attack on unspecified objectives in western Germany.

London Has Alert
German raiders over England last night set off London's warning system but there was no immediate report of damage or loss of life. A weak enemy raid Saturday night demolished two houses and killed several persons in a southeastern coast town.

An air ministry announcement last night said Augsburg's U-boat engine works—Germany's largest—were extensively damaged by American and British attacks late in February.

In a broadcast last night to the United States, Brig. Gen. George McDonald, director of intelligence for Europe, indicated possibly a record 3,000 allied planes attacked Regensburg, Stuttgart and other Nazi objectives last Feb. 25.

In each instance the shipyard will be followed by the name of the shipyard.

Marion Co. Youths Charged with 18-Day Wave of Crime

Burglaries, Car Thefts, Burning of Auto and Destruction of Mail Boxes Among Accusations.

Seven young men from Marion and rural homes nearby were rounded up over the week-end when the city police, state highway patrol and sheriff's office teamed up to smash a group charged with a sizeable list of offenses.

Half a dozen burglaries, three car thefts, burning of at least one automobile and destruction of 20 mail boxes in Marion county are some of the offenses which authorities said have been cleared by confessions of the group.

Four of the men were to land in court today or Tuesday on charges that carry possible stiff penalties. Three others, because they are under 18 years of age, will go into juvenile court, but at least one of these because of a prior court record and his activity in the current crimes, seemed headed for severe punishment.

Start of Roundup
The roundup began quietly with a minor incident at a gasoline station. A discrepancy between gasoline coupons and a license plate for the car in which gasoline had been placed by the attendant led the attendant to make an inquiry that touched off the series of arrests.

Once the arrests started, the pace became lively. Two of the seven eluded authorities in a 14-mile automobile chase Friday that started near Marion, swept through Green Camp and wound up in Marion city traffic where the two made good their escape. However, police radio spread the hunt all over Ohio, and the pair was arrested at Waverly, O., Friday night.

Statements of those arrested early in the roundup helped clear a series of crimes and paved the way for the later arrests, authorities said.

Face Felony Charges
The four who will go into municipal court on what Prosecuting Attorney James E. Reed said would be felony charges are Joe Henderson, 18, of near Agosta; James Jackson, 18, of 373 Thompson street, Don Swearingen, 20, of the Sawyer road, southwest of Marion and John Wylie, 24, of 294 Willow street.

Of the three juveniles, ages 16 and 17, authorities said only one is definitely headed for severe punishment. He is Lewis Louck, 16, of five miles west of Marion on the Expyville road, listed as one of the active participants in a series of crimes, and a youth with a previous court record.

Court officials said the names of the other two juveniles would not be made public at this time because the circumstances surrounding their participation in the crimes might result in them being given another chance instead of getting the severe punishment planned for the others.

The group were linked with an 18-day wave of crime that authorities said has few equals in Marion county records. From confessions signed by the group, they listed the following:

Feb. 21—Four of them went to the Schlaier Transfer Co. on Lincoln avenue. Three went through a window and got a case of wine while the fourth waited in the car.

Feb. 22—Four went to the Eastman Trucking Co. on the Prospect road. They cut off a section of air line.

RESTRICT BRITISH-IRISH TRAVEL. Great Britain has tightened restrictions on travel between Britain and Northern Ireland and Eire to prevent the seepage of information in a swift aftermath to Prime Minister Eamon De Valera's refusal to oust axis diplomatic representatives whose activities are charged with endangering the lives of thousands of Americans posed with other allied forces for the second front. Distances reveal closeness of axis representatives in Eire to preparations for second front.

U. S. FLIERS BAG 26 JAP PLANES

Remnants of Enemy Airforce in Southwest Pacific Suffer Heavy Blow.

By The Associated Press
Twenty-six Japanese planes, remnants of the enemy's once-powerful airforce in the southwest Pacific, were destroyed by U. S. Fifth air force airmen during a 120-ton strike at Wewak, main Japanese base on New Guinea, Gen. Douglas MacArthur communicated today.

In the central Pacific, Marines landed without opposition on Wotho atoll, 67 miles northwest of Kwajalein in the Marshall islands, giving the allies a straight string of islands extending from Majuro in the eastern Marshalls through Kwajalein and Wotho to Eniwetok in the west. The line points straight toward Tokyo.

Marines Improve Position
Other Marines, fighting on Wotho peninsula in New Britain, have consolidated their position around captured Taseca and its emergency landing field, while allied forces on Bougainville to the east have driven Japanese back from minor gains won during a violent eruption of heavy fighting on the Empress Augusta bay battlefield.

The raid on Wewak, one of the heaviest in weeks, left gun positions smashed, fuel and supply areas burning. In addition to the 26 planes shot down, Japanese probably lost six others and several parked planes were destroyed, MacArthur said. Two American planes failed to return.

Wide-ranging air and sea craft accounted for 23 Japanese barges, patrol boats and small coastal ships along the rim of the Bu-march sea. At least two of the barges were filled with troops.

Rabaul, New Britain, was hit with 81 tons of explosives, other planes supported ground operations on Los Negros island in the Admiralties and in the central Pacific, American planes added.

On the island of New Britain, the 47-year-old officer held the temporary rank of lieutenant colonel when he led the raid on Tokyo April 18, 1942. After this attack he was promoted to brigadier general and awarded the congressional medal of honor.

In July, 1942, he was sent to the European theater for the first time, attached to the Eighth air force. A few months later he was named commander of the 12th air force in North Africa.

He returned to England as Eighth air force commander in Feb. of this year.

LONDON BACKS U. S. PLEA FOR BLOW AT AXIS

Travel Malted and Border Between Eire and Ulster May Be Closed.

By The Associated Press
LONDON, March 13—The outright closing of northern Ireland's border with Eire to give full effect to the suspension of travel between the islands of Britain and Ireland was a near prospect today.

All reports from Belfast, northern Ireland, said this step—which the British government could order—was regarded as inevitable as the allies moved with hard realism to end the alleged use of neutral Eire as an axis spy base.

Other steps, of a nature not now disclosed, may also be taken. All travel except in cases of greatest urgency was suspended between Britain and Ireland, whether northern Ireland or Eire, by a British home office order last night two days after Eire's Prime Minister Eamon De Valera announced his refusal to accede to a United States request that German and Japanese diplomatic offices in his country be closed.

Act on Eisenhower Request
The order from the home office resulted from an urgent request by Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, supreme commander of allied western European forces.

It was believed in London the travel ban was only the beginning of British and United States measures to provide strict military security.

Two possibilities stood out—closing of the Eire-Northern Ireland (Ulster) frontier and curtailment of shipments of wheat, gasoline and coal which Eire imports from Britain and the United States.

London newspapers strongly emphasized the likelihood of restrictions on such Eire imports. It was believed in London the travel ban was only the beginning of British and United States measures to provide strict military security.

Although the home office order did not affect the customary easy communication between Eire and Northern Ireland, the London Daily Herald said police had instituted a "drastic" comb-out among the 30,000 Eire workers who have obtained resident permits in northern Ireland since the war ended.

Travel newspapers printed the travel announcement without comment. There was no immediate official reaction.

Prime Minister Curtin of Australia was quoted today in an Associated Press dispatch from Canberra as announcing Eire had asked Australia to intervene and secure withdrawal of the American note.

He said "quite definitely Australia was in accord with the American request and with the Eire government," Curtin added, "The travel order applies both to civilians and military personnel."

Mall Train Nearly Empty
The Irish mail train to Hollywood left London this morning two-thirds empty, it was reported. The travel order was doubtless a factor in the low turnout, although they were using tickets issued before the travel ban was announced.

Irishmen on the train—mainly laborers—were strongly against DeValera.

"What does he want to keep the Germans in Dublin for?" asked one. "Germany never gave anything to Ireland and never will."

The British were leaving the initiative largely to the United States because of the ancient feud with the Irish, and for other practical reasons.

1. Great consideration must be given to the possibility of a large-scale attack on the British Isles.

2. The ending of all trade with the world is also reported to be a possibility.

Have You Aided the Red Cross War Fund?

Letters from our boys who are overseas tell of the fine treatment they get from the American Red Cross. Both at the fighting fronts and when on leave they find the Red Cross ready to aid them.

The V-mail letters received from our boys on every front confirm this fact. If you have had any doubts about it, ask some of your friends who have received such V-mail letters.

This month you have the opportunity to express your appreciation of this service to our men by a generous contribution to the fund needed to carry on the work of the Red Cross. No cause is more worthy.

Lyons and their three children, Sherlene, Inez and a boy whose name was not available immediately. Both families lived just west of Columbus.

Patrolmen said Mrs. Sherman's husband, Louis C. Sherman, and their son David, 5, were injured. Sherman suffered a crushed chest and internal injuries and was in critical condition, while the boy was severely cut and bruised.

Patrolmen said the Pennsylvania Spirit of St. Louis and the automobile driven by Sherman collided at a crossing eight miles west of here as the families were returning from church.

The crash sliced the car in two. None of the train's passengers was injured, but it reached Columbus about 45 minutes late because of the accident. Dispatcher E. W. Davis reported.

Schedule of Mail Service Rates To Go Up March 26

On and after March 26, the date the new tax law fixing increased postage rates becomes effective, delivery of first-class mail in the city will call for a three-cent stamp for each ounce or fraction thereof. Postmaster Homer D. Cole announced today. The one-cent increase for local delivery service which is only one of the many changes in the postal rates scheduled to go into effect on that date will make the rate on first class mail the same whether it is for local delivery or out of the city.

Postmaster Cole states there are 60,000 two-cent stamped envelopes on hand at the postoffice now and that the extra stamp will be placed on them at the postoffice with the payment of the additional one cent by the purchaser. He urges requests that the public cooperate by buying up this leftover stock and thus prevent the necessity of shipping it back to Washington.

Other changes will be: AIR MAIL—Eight cents per ounce or fraction thereof for delivery within the United States or Alaska. The rate of a cent per half-ounce will continue on all mail sent to the armed forces overseas, served through army or navy post offices.

PACEL POST—All fourth class postage increased 1 cent on the first pound per parcel for all zones, with some additional increases according to the weight of the parcel.

BOOKS—Those consisting entirely of reading matter without advertisements, 4 cents for the first pound and 3 cents for each additional pound up to 15 pounds; slight increase in rate over that weight.

CATALOGUES—In bound form, having 24 or more pages, weighing more than eight ounces but not exceeding 10 pounds, increased a minimum of 1 cent per pound.

Dewey Leads In 2-Way Analysis of G. O. P. Poll

By GEORGE GALLUP
Director, American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J., March 13—Two questions frequently asked today by those who keep their eyes closely trained on political developments are:

1. If the field is narrowed to Dewey and Willkie, which of these two men would the present rank and file supporters of MacArthur, Eberke and Stassen prefer?

2. What are the particular merits of the five leading candidates as seen through the eyes of their supporters?

The figures below show that Dewey stands to gain more than Willkie if Eberke, MacArthur, or Stassen should leave the race. On a nationwide basis, Governor Dewey has picked up strength as compared to November when a similar survey narrowed the choice to the two men. The question asked of people who indicated a preference for a Republican president is this:

"If your choice of Republican candidates for President were limited to Willkie and Dewey, which would you prefer?"

Here are the results today, compared to those in November:

	Today	Nov.
Willkie	21%	25%
Dewey	64	55
Undecided	9	10

Piles Are Never 'Mild'

DANGER IN NEGLECT

No one should ever think of piles (hemorrhoids) as a "mild" disorder.

Although they may seem a "mild" ailment, especially when not giving pain or inconvenience, piles are in fact tumor formations without tendency to heal themselves. Instead, they are likely, if neglected, to keep increasing in size, involving more and more of the rectal area.

Even a so-called "mild" case may be expected to undermine one's health, by inviting, predisposing to or aggravating other ailments, such as: indigestion, biliousness, stomach trouble, constipation, headaches, pain in the back and down the legs, secondary anemia with its run-down tired feeling, and general nervous irritability.

Removal of piles is the only positive cure. This can be done without knife, drugs or loss of time from work.

Former St. Mary Coach Heads New Britain Unit

A former St. Mary Parochial High school football coach, First Lt. Nicholas C. Padgen of the Marine corps, is stationed in New Britain, according to word received from Marine Corps offices in Cleveland.

Lt. Padgen, commander of a Marine artillery battery on Cape Gloucester, is quoted in a Marine Corps dispatch, as saying, "Handling artillery is just like throwing a block into a tackle. The artillery runs interference for the infantry—and they're the boys carrying the ball out here."

Lt. Padgen was coaching at St. Mary in August, 1942, when a call came for Marine reserve officers to report to active duty. Before that he had been on a professional football team touring the country. The team was disbanded in California when Pearl Harbor was attacked.

He played center with the Chicago Cardinals in the National Pro league in 1940 after being on Creighton university teams at Omaha, Neb. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Padgen of Lansing, Ill.

We promise

*At the top of every War Bond you buy are these words:
 "The United States promises to pay..."
 Those may not sound like such brave words. But actually they are the hope of the world!"*

THEY ARE a promise by the country to its citizens, but also a promise by the citizens to the country and to the people of the world; a promise that obligations recognized and accepted will be paid in full.

The millions of us who buy those Bonds, do proudly and solemnly promise:

... that partial victory shall not breed the kind of weakening over-confidence which can rob us of complete victory;

... that unity shall rise above all squabbles, and differences;

... that this war shall be fought through to a finish with all that we have and all that we are;

... that the sacrifices of today, and the larger sacrifices of tomorrow, shall be accepted willingly, in the humble knowledge that they are small when set beside the sacrifices of our men who are fighting;

... that we will not turn our backs on the rest of the world after victory is won; but will reach out the hand of friendship, and assume our proper share of responsibility in seeing that freedom, equality, and orderly justice become possible for all people, everywhere;

... that neither our own fighting men nor any of our allies shall be let down in any way whatsoever now, or in the hard-fighting days to come, or in the peace that will follow victory;

... that we, the people, will dig into our pockets, purses, and savings to make the success of the War Bond program a symbol of our determination.

These things we subscribe to. These things we believe in. These things we promise.

In the Middle

THE never-settled Irish question has put the United States in the middle by virtue of its alliance with Great Britain in two wars. While things this time are not so bad as they were in World War I when Irishmen were plotting actively with Germany against the British, they are still bad enough to handicap the Allied military effort and endanger the lives of United States troops. If all of Ireland were available as a part of the British Isles base of operations against Germany, dominant on the continent, the war could go much better.

Perhaps Irish "neutrality" still would have kept the Free State out of the war even without its long-smoldering distrust of British intentions and policies. But one does not need to be an Anglophobe to regret that an island which literally controls the destiny of England was almost in the hands of an active enemy in one war and now is forbidden to the hands of a friendly military alliance because of an ancient feud. There is no merit against British diplomacy greater than the state of the Irish mind. Beside Ireland, separated from England by only a few miles of water and tied to that country by culture, the condition of India, another wartime embarrassment to the Allied effort, is almost favorable.

The blame is not all on the English, of course; the Irish have been difficult to deal with, often impulsive and often, as they are being now, shortsighted. But the bulk of the blame must be on the English, because as the dominant group they have weakened their own defense twice in one generation by an alien sentiment in Ireland which they both wittingly and unwittingly have been feeding much longer than either Englishmen or Irishmen care to remember.

Gen. Mud

THE commentators and war analysts do not surrender without a struggle. They are lining up again behind Gen. Mud on the Russian front, as though that supposedly invincible antagonist hadn't been proved wrong often than Hitler, himself.

The Russians have distinguished themselves in the war by doing the impossible. They have gone forward in the mud, and they have gone forward in the snow. Whenever the commentators agreed that they were going to be stopped by mud and snow, they immediately thereafter staged a major offensive.

Having just agreed that the Russian advance would be stalled by the spring thaw, the commentators and analysts hardly can be surprised to read that the Russians have begun a major offensive in the Ukraine. It looks as though they had backed Gen. Mud in another losing proposition.

Irvin S. Cobb

THE quality of humor is not strain'd, either. It drops from the facile tongue of its originators as it dropped from the capacious mouth of an Irvin S. Cobb—and wherever it falls there is a little more zest in living, a little more point and counterpoint.

It is not easy any more to be sure the Irvin S. Cobbses and Will Rogerses are going to be replaced. When one of the old school of native wits dies these days, it becomes the passing of an institution, not just an incident in the going and coming of well-known men.

Cobb—even the name was in character—was one in a million. Youngsters may not why, being too close to Bob Hope, Jack Benny, Fred Allen and Red Skelton to realize that people liked to laugh before humor came out of a con-traption in the living room. But hearing Cobb in person used to be a great experience, whether it was on a lecture course, a Chautauqua platform, or at a banquet. And it wasn't so long ago, either, that Cobb-stories always were stamped "Must Read" by the more discriminating clientele. He was for a time the nation's symbolic Puck; no man who looked like that could fail to be funny even when he wasn't trying.

Because he did it so well and perhaps because so many of us remember fondly when laughter was free and easy under his expert prodding, we are sorry his quipping is over. He had his serious moments, but many men can be serious. It takes a genius to be funny.

News Behind the News

REA Investigation Points To Personal Clique Contesting Slattery for Control.

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, March 13 — Jonathan Daniels, one of the President's supposedly anonymous confidential assistants, who lost his anonymity in the REA fracas, testified that nothing more than a constitutional objection by behind his original refusal to give any information to the senate committee investigating the political activities of REA.

Apparently, he convinced the President's most unrelenting critic in the senate, "Cotton Ed" Smith, chairman of the agricultural subcommittee conducting the hearings, that this was the whole story although Mr. Daniels still persisted in withholding his files. His constitutional ground that a supposedly anonymous assistant of the President is immune from congressional investigation bore little weight with congress. The theory has been in effect there since 1794 that inasmuch as congress furnishes the money for the executive branch of the government, it has the right to investigate exactly how this money is spent—whether for politics, building cliques in government bureaus, or properly.

No one has ever successfully contested this theory of truly democratic operation in the courts. So Mr. Roosevelt, probably wisely, stepped in and ordered Mr. Daniels to testify. The committee did not get much out of him.

The basic situation behind all the complex political struggling and arguing current in the news is that a personal clique started some years ago to take over the rural electrification administration from its administrator, Harry Slattery, and has kept him practically a prisoner in his own office since then. He still draws a salary, cannot be removed as the legal authority of his office gives him a 10-year lease on it.

Daily Bible Thought

If you want to rule 100 per cent as a Christian this is what you must do: "Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all my heart, with all my soul, and with all my strength, and with all my mind, and thy neighbor as thyself."—Luke 10:27.

Your Share of National Debt

It Will Be $1,111 by June, 1945.

By SIGRID ARNE Associated Press Writer

THE United States will have a debt by next June of 198 billion dollars. It will be 258 billion by June, 1945, and probably will have reached 300 billion by the end of the war.

If it reaches 300 billion, we will owe approximately $1,111 apiece—or $4,444 for that ideal American family of four. Can it be paid off? That is the paid off?

There are two schools of thought. One says the debt must be paid off. The other says, "We owe it to ourselves, so we will just let it ride."

Washington is split wide open over the argument. Both sides agree that high taxes can be continued if factories keep running and the national income stays at a high level.

So, whichever school of thought is holding the floor, it's important to consider how each of us as individual taxpayers can make out as compared with 1914. After World War I, we finally got the debt down to where it caused no worry.

In 1919 we made $589 per capita a year. It's estimated that the first year after the war we will be making $925 per capita. We will be less than twice as able to pay a debt 12 times as big—300 billion—as against 25 billion in 1919.

Some officials in Washington get a light in their eyes when they talk about national savings. The people now hold 106.5 billion in savings and checking accounts, War Bonds and currency, according to the securities exchange office. Department of commerce estimates a rate of savings at 35.6 billion annually at the end of 1942, more than half the national income at the 1939 rate.

It would be shocking to be told, just told, that federal expenses would jump from 8.7 billion in 1939 to 26 billion the first year after the war. The 26 billion include a larger standing army and navy, higher veterans costs, six billions of interest on the debt and administrative expenses. The country, according to estimates of a national income of 125 billion after the war, would have 99 billions left to spend as against 61.3 billions in 1939. That's another hair to split, and both sides split it.

How much will the 99 billions buy? Then there's the gloomy side. Suppose factories close when war contracts are ended, men are out of work, and income and taxes drop to the 1932 point.

That's where everyone throws in the sponge. In that year our national income was only 39 billion. Pose that against 26 billion of expected federal expense, as I did to a government economist. He spread his hands and said, "Bankruptcy."

But things never get to a place where government debt swallows up income. Protest against high taxes forces the government to borrow. The increasing borrowing throws new money into the markets, and inflation is on the way. Germany after the last war is the perfect example. The Germans put on a war in which they thought a defeated France would pay and did not increase taxes until very late. At the end they

Slattery set out to break up the clique, inspired the current investigation, and produced evidence which no doubt will cause congress to institute that bureau as an independent government agency, thus restoring Slattery's control of it outside the usual political influences that generally operate over government bureaus here.

The core of the clique was fairly well exposed in the so-called Becker memorandum produced in evidence by the committee counsel. It pictured Deputy REA Administrator Robert B. Craig as outlining a novel plan to collect a little money on the side from the local cooperatives to form an organization here which would effectively control the politics within REA—and apparently other politics beside.

Mr. Craig is quoted as saying in that memorandum, that he learned his politics from the late Harry Daugherty, the old Harding politician, and the plan sounded like it.

"We will be in a position to control many congressional and several senatorial offices," he said.

All New Dealish

That was back in 1910, and Mr. Craig has since left the organization, but the loose administration of the clique (if it did not go to Mr. Craig's proposed extent) allowed purchases of electrical equipment for whatever price would allow a profit in the sale of the electricity instead of balking the price on what the equipment was worth. A lot of votes and some outside money would also seem to be possible under that arrangement.

The evidence did not show the details of how the clique was operating in Mr. Roosevelt's political behalf as well as its own among the users of government-controlled electrical lines, but it did show that another one of Mr. Roosevelt's anonymous assistants, Eugene Casey, has been tramping the fields of these farmers recently in behalf of the fourth term.

The organization is thoroughly New Dealish from top to bottom, including even the isolated Mr. Slattery and those who helped him in his investigation, so there was no real conflict of political interest.

had a huge job and huge reparations. One day the government just said money has no good any more.

We come close to paying half the war bill as we go along, and that's considered safe enough. At this point you find middle-aged people, at the peak of their spending needs, with children in school, who protest, "there's no way to buy the 'new new world' in a couple of years. They want the cost of the war spread out over a long period."

In 1919, the government was taking in less than 23 per cent of what it was spending. In 1945 it will take in almost 44 per cent.

Here's another sign post. Treasury experts say that government debt never becomes dangerous until the interest exceeds 20 per cent of the national income.

We expect a top debt of 300 billion. We're paying under 2 per cent interest. That makes eighty-six billions, which isn't 20 per cent of even the lowest income we've made in 14 years, that 39 billion in 1932.

There's one thing to remember. Soldiers abroad and war workers at home now know how much this country can turn out when the brakes are off. If the high rate of production is kept, high income will stay, and there will be plenty of margin to pay taxes even high enough to reduce the debt.

The Problems of Lasting Peace

By Herbert Hoover and Hugh Gibson

(This is another installment of the newly-revised, up-to-the-minute version of their important book, "The Problems of Lasting Peace," prepared especially for this series by Herbert Hoover, three-time President of the United States and Hugh Gibson, former minister to Poland and Ambassador to Belgium and Czechoslovakia.)

INSTALLMENT VII Long-View Problems of Peace

AFTER the dreadful degenerations of these last thirty years of war, revolution, and disorder, if Western civilization is to be saved from another relapse into the Dark Ages, it must be saved by far more intelligent selection of a hundred long-view problems than ever before. Never will humanity need more objectivity, more tolerance and more vision, more open and more prayerful minds.

We have proposed the mechanics of peace making as leadership of the four principal nations, a conditional peace covering urgent questions, a Transition Period in which long-view questions may be solved in such fashion as to lay secure foundations of peace and, finally, the erection thereon of some "world institution" to preserve peace.

This temple where the flame of peace is to be kept will not endure unless the foundations are more deeply laid, more securely than at Versailles.

We may observe that, if we scan the history of modern Western civilization, we can see that following long periods of world wars, and world disorder, new shapes and new forms of nations have emerged. We must expect new forms and new directions from the gigantic explosion beginning in 1914. No one can pretend to see these coming shapes and forms clearly.

Yet there are some things we do know now. There are definite problems arising out of the last war and the last peace. Definite problems have already risen out of this war. We know that the old ideological and economic forces—extreme nationalism, imperialism, aggressive militarism and the witches of fear, hate and revenge will take part in the peace settlements as they did in 1919 although they may be unbidden and unwelcome guests. But on the other hand, the will and the prayers of a stricken world for a lasting peace will echo through those halls.

We propose now to discuss the long-view problems and to search for some specific deductions, some experience, and some lessons that emerge from the long struggle of humanity to deal with them. We will first deal with the ideological forces and the immediate problems that arise out of them.

The importance of religious faith, of social, economic, political, artistic, and scientific ideas in shaping the form of the world and in making of its wars and peace is not to be estimated as less than that of other basic forces. Over the long range of history, they are the determining factors in civilization.

ONE thing is certain: that is, that the ideas which involve human belief and faith contain a militant crusading spirit. Within them is inherent aggressiveness. And ideological wars whether religious or temporal, are more brutal and more bitter than were the wars of mere conquest or exploitation.

The settlement of enemy countries will confront us with a positive, ideological problem. So far as America is concerned this war is a crusade against totalitarianism in general, and against Nazism, and Fascism in particular. Americans want once and for all to end these great forces of military aggression.

We believe that in this problem we must make up our minds to certain distinctions. That distinction is between insisting upon representative government on one hand and insisting upon our ideas of the Bill of Rights and personal liberty on the other.

We have suggested under the "conditional" peace—the immediate call of freely chosen representative constitutional assemblies or parliamentary bodies in all liberated and enemy countries. This is absolutely necessary for enemy areas in any event, in order that dictatorship shall be replaced by some sort of authorized and stable government with which to deal.

Makes a Difference

We Are Informed That Barbers of the Opposite Sex Are Just War Workers Relaxing a Little.

By DAMON RUNYON

PAUL MALLON, the celebrated Washington scribe, had a piece in the paper the other day stating that evidence is mounting in the daily news columns that parental and child delinquency can be traced partly to the barber. He says a congressional committee heard a policeman tell of mothers taking babies to saloons for the evening and that a great growth of child drunkenness has become apparent to the police.

I must warn Brother Mallon to have a care in discussing this situation unless he wants to get snowed in by letters explaining that the conditions mentioned may prevail elsewhere, they do not exist in the letter writers' communities.

I was perhaps the first observer to speak of what struck me as increasing elbow-brooming among ladies in public barrooms, but presently I had letters from indignant citizens of many different cities saying their towns were free from this female guzzling. I came to the conclusion that it was a practice peculiar to the sections I had visited.

"It is true," the letters would say, "that some ladies of our fair city occasionally visit barrooms for a drink, but almost invariably it is only after they have put in long hours of hard work in war industries and if you re-grudge them this simple relaxation you are undoubtedly a cad."

I NEVER said I begrudged the ladies their drinks. On the contrary, I said I did not care if they drank themselves cuckoo. But after receiving all those letters I began visualizing the girls with their girdles up against the wall in an entirely different light. I now saw them as working ladies just off tough sessions in the factory or the mill re-stocking their energy with a little stimulant.

This view of them made me feel better. I used to regard many of them as mere barflies and bums, but the letter writers convinced me I was doing the girls an injustice. Now I can watch a lady in a mink coat and diamonds playing teeter-totter on a bar stool without any of my old feeling that it is a deplorable spectacle. I say to myself, "Well, the poor soul has probably been riving or welding or making ammunition all day and she is just relaxing slightly."

Even when the lady bounces a fast right off a barkeep's beard for declining further service, I do not accept it as a sad alcoholic reaction. I figure that maybe she is merely keeping in practice for her husband. If she falls to the floor I am first to pick her up and dust her off and say, "There, there now. You must be a little careful or you will strain your working muscles and then where would the war effort be?"

I MUST confess that to date I have seen no mothers with their babies in barrooms, though now that I think of it I am of the opinion that the little ones would be more comfortable there than when left outside in their carriages, as is the practice among some mothers, though not, of course, in your community.

I asked a barkeep what he thought of this and he agreed with me. He said that as a matter of fact he once had the idea of making a play for increased business by inviting mothers to bring their babies into his place and was going to provide the kids with cradles.

But, he said one day a little mother brought her baby in and after she had eight, nine, 10, 12 drinks she planted the infant on the bar and demanded that the barkeep change it. He said he drew the line on that kind of service and heaved them both out, the baby saving him even more resistance than the mother. (Copyright, 1944, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

Dress Reform

By Truman Twill

While the better minds figure out the angles on the weighty problems which were discussed when Jack & Heinz had congress in to dinner recently, this column would like to consider what might prove to be the most important effect of the blowout.

Mr. Jack forgot his tie. He forgot it the way he also forgot his coat. He forgets them deliberately. This was his party, and he couldn't get thrown out even if he had forgotten his trousers, but long after the guests have forgotten what was dished up in the way of food and elucidation they will remember that the guy who paid the bills was a fashion reformer.

It happened to be Mr. Jack's usual getup, but in Washington where the gents are impressionable it may start something. Many a congressman who gets hot under the collar at the drop of a campaign hat may get to thinking how comfy it would be to do his debating with his shirt unbuttoned.

The revolt against custom in men's clothing is only slumbering, not dead. All it takes is a little fanning to make it burst into flame. The first fellow who decided he was tired of displaying his skinny shanks in knee breeches at parties and decided to wear long pants instead, got rid of knee breeches forever, and for all we know Mr. Jack may have started something.

No everything proposed in the name of dress reform is worth the bother. There has been some talk, for instance of the wrap-around for men. Take it from a disillusioned correspondent who tried one of these garments for a couple hours one day this week that the wrap-around has no merit.

This one was the kind doctors wear, with the entrance at the rear and little strings to tie it together at the neck and waist. In the first place, no ordinary man can tie a bow knot behind him. In the second place, whatever man hath put together in this way a slight breeze can put asunder. In the third place, anyone who wears a wrap-around without a full outfit beneath it is asking for trouble.

The next thing you know you are leaning up against a hot radiator, but not for long. "My fault," apologizes the good doctor. "I should have told you your ahem was showing." Whereupon he suggests smoothly that he would like the customer to glide into the next room and sit here on one of those modernistic chromium chairs. Yipe! Open again.

In other words, Mr. Jack, you make yourself comfortable and be as informal as you like, but don't forget that there can be a lot of good connected with dress reform.

HIGH CROP ACREAGE, LOWER YIELD SEEN

Associated Press
March 13—More than 13 million acres of corn will be planted in 1944, but the outlook now is for a smaller crop than in the years of 1941-1943, because of the weather and the soil.

The balance of the crop will depend on the weather and the soil. The balance of the crop will depend on the weather and the soil.

The balance of the crop will depend on the weather and the soil. The balance of the crop will depend on the weather and the soil.

ern half prospects seem rather uneven and less promising. The fall and winter drought threatens 1944 prospects quite generally in the Great Plains states. When weather is favorable, these states harvest nearly 40 percent of the total corn acreage in the United States and fluctuations in their rainfall have been responsible for much of the variation in total crop production.

A number of favorable factors might reduce the effects of deficient moisture, the department said. These are:

1. A large quantity of fertilizers will be available for the 1944 crops.
2. Continued substitution of new and improved varieties of crops.
3. Favorable farm practices stimulated by higher prices.

SEN. TAFT PROPOSED FOR REPUBLICAN POST

By The Associated Press
WASHINGTON, March 13—Selection of Senator Taft (R-Ohio) as chairman of the senate minority's "board of directors," the Republican steering committee, apparently was in the making today. This was viewed as a move to prevent a split over the choice of a successor to the late Charles McNary as floor leader.

McNary's death left Senator White (Me) the acting leader and although there have been demands from some younger Republican members for a showdown now on a successor, the elder heads want to put it off until the next congress organizes in January.

Taft is one of the candidates of the younger group for floor leader, but indications are they would be satisfied with his selection as chairman of the steering committee.

Former Senator John Townsend (Del), chairman of the party's senatorial campaign committee, has been counseling delay in reorganization until after the election and if his advice is accepted the present officers will remain.

That would leave Senator Vandenberg (Mich) as vice chairman and acting head of the minority conference. White as acting floor leader and Senator Wherry (Nebr) as whip.

The choice of Taft for the steering committee chairmanship would put him in a position where he could direct, with the committee's approval, minority legislative strategy on the floor.

The new steering committee is expected to be selected at a conference Wednesday.

New Rules Near for Farm Gasoline

In an effort to curb black market operations in gasoline, a plan affecting five-gallon "R" coupons issued to farmers and other non-highway users will be put into effect throughout the nation April 1, officials at Columbus announced today.

Beginning April 1, "R" coupons will be made invalid for buying gasoline at filling stations. Non-highway users who buy their gasoline at bulk plants or who have it delivered into storage tanks on their own premises will use the "R" coupons, while those receiving their gasoline at filling stations will use the one-gallon "E" coupons.

Farmers who do buy most of their gasoline at filling stations will have from March 13 to April 1 to exchange their "R" coupons at the local War Price and Rationing Boards for "E" coupons. After March 13, farmers and other off-highway users of gasoline will be required to endorse all "E" and "R" coupons.

LETTERS FROM OUR READERS

To Editor of The Star: I am horrified and embarrassed beyond words to think that the so-called Christians will do as they are going to do. Holy Wre, services in a theater that is intended for worldly entertainment.

What can we expect of the rising generation when our leaders are bringing the worldly things to our churches?

God pity these people. They have the form of godliness but deny the power thereof. We have no right to judge but by their fruits we shall know them.

Pointers on Low-Point Meals

HONEYCOMB TRIP, CREOLE: Point-saver.

By CHARLOTTE ADAMS
Associated Press Food Editor

To cooperate with the government's current low-point, no-point food campaign, the National Restaurant Association has run a contest among its members for the best recipes using plentiful ingredients which require few points or no points at all. The chefs of the prize-winning restaurants have reduced the quantities in their recipes from mass-cooking proportions to those used in the average household. Herewith presented are four prize winners which should be of help to any budget-wise housewife in her own cooperation with the campaign. The number one recipe is illustrated on this page.

Honeycomb Trip, Creole

One pound tripe, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 3 cups tomato pulp, 2 1/2 cups stock, 2 tablespoons cornstarch, 1 teaspoon black pepper, 1/2 teaspoon tobacco, 1/2 teaspoon butter or oil, 1 cut clove garlic, 1/4 cup dried green pepper, 1/4 cup dried phenols, 1-3 cup dried onions.

Tripe is cooked in salted water about 2 hours, cooled and cut lengthwise. Rub pan with garlic. Fry onions and green peppers in butter or oil, add tomatoes and stock and cook for 15 minutes. Add cornstarch, dissolved in a little water, seasoning and pimientos. Bring to a boil, and trip and simmer 15 to 20 minutes. Serves four.

Vegetable Chop Suey with Rice

2 1/2 cups onions, 2 cups celery, 10 average size fresh mushrooms, 1 tablespoon butter, 1 teaspoon shortening to saute, 1 cup fresh bean sprouts, 1/4 cup water, chestnuts (optional), 3 tablespoons canned tomatoes, 3 tablespoons cornstarch, 2 tablespoons cold water, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 2 cups chicken or veal stock, 1/2 medium green peppers, chopped coarsely, 3 tablespoons soy sauce, 1/4 cup uncooked rice.

Peel and slice onions. Tumble wash and cut celery into 1/2 inch pieces. Saute celery and onions in fat until tender. Clean and slice mushrooms (caps and stems). Cook mushrooms and green peppers in fat from chicken stock. Make a paste of the cornstarch and cold water. Combine tomatoes and stock and bring to the boil. Combine with cornstarch paste and simmer 15 minutes. Add phenols, bean sprouts, water chestnuts, soy sauce, salt, mushrooms, peppers, celery and onions. Cook rice and serve sauce poured over it. Serves five.

Casserole of Chicken and Broccoli, Mornay

4 tablespoons butter substitute, 6 tablespoons flour, 1 1/2 cups chicken stock, 2 cups milk, 1 egg yolk, well beaten, dash cayenne, dash nutmeg, 1 teaspoon salt, 1/4 cup grated Parmesan cheese, 2 cups cooked chicken cut into large pieces, 1 bunch cooked broccoli.

Melt shortening, add flour and blend well. Gradually add chicken stock and milk. Stir until smooth. Add seasonings and cook over low heat, stirring constantly, 15 minutes. Pour some of the hot sauce over the egg yolk. Mix well and stir into sauce mixture. Add alternate layers of chicken and broccoli in greased baking dish. Cover with hot sauce. Brown quickly in broiler. If desired, garnish with mushroom caps. Serves 1-5.

Stuffed Eggs En Casserole

6 hard cooked eggs, 1/4 pound raw mushrooms, chopped fine, 2 tablespoons melted margarine, dash pepper, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, 1 teaspoon grated onion, 2 cups medium cream sauce, 1/4 cup bread crumbs mixed with shortening.

Saute mushrooms in margarine. Cut eggs in half, lengthwise. Remove yolks and pass them through a sieve. Mix sieved yolks, seasonings, onion and sauteed mushrooms and stuff egg whites with this mixture. Place stuffed eggs in casserole dish. Add cream sauce and top with crumbs. Bake in 375 degree oven until golden brown. Garnish with sliced sauteed mushrooms and parsley, if desired. Serves four.

Wyandot Farmer Finds Meteorograph in Orchard

UPPER SANDUSKY, March 13.—Wyandot county fruit farmer, Charles Rieser, of near Little Sandusky, found a meteorograph in his orchard and has mailed it to the address on the package.

Meteorographs are, according to the instructions on the package discovered by Mr. Rieser, a compact one tube ultra short wave radio transmitter controlled by weather sensitive elements so that temperature, humidity and barometric pressure are radioed back to the stations which sent up the units in trial balloons filled with helium.

When these balloons reach stratosphere altitudes they explode and the meteorograph parachutes back to earth. Finders are instructed to mail them back to the address stamped on the package to receive a reward dependent on the value and serial number of that particular unit.

Ireland's Dislike for England Key to Present Trouble

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

The prompt imposition of restrictions between Ireland and Great Britain was a key to the present trouble. The British government's refusal to grant America's demand for a free trade area between the British Empire and Japan, and the consequent loss of the British Empire's trade, is a serious menace.

CRIME

brake hose, used it to siphon out about 15 gallons of gasoline.

March 4—Five went to the Pump Oil bulk plant at the end of West Center street. One broke window and took a 5-gallon can of oil and a case of quart containers of oil. From there the group went to Kenton avenue and broke into three garages but got nothing. Then three of them went to Henry street and stole a Ford coach. They drove it out near the Pleasant township school and amused themselves by knocking down about 20 mail boxes.

They abandoned the car near the Kroger store on South Prospect street, pausing as they left to smash a door glass with a wrench and break the back window with a hammer.

March 5—Three went to the State theater. One forced the door and, with a companion, went inside and took $38.

March 7—Two went to Summit street and stole a Chevrolet coupe, drove it to Green Camp where one of the pair stole a Ford coupe. This car was used by the driver at the intersection of routes 104 and 203. They tossed a match into the spilled gasoline, trying to burn the car, but it didn't catch fire. The two then went to Attica in the other stolen car where they set fire to it. They stole another car there, pilfered gasoline coupons from five other cars and drove back to Marion, going to the Airport road where they tossed out the license plate of the stolen car, substituting another plate they had stolen from a junkyard. The same night, three of them broke into the Mar-O-Del inn just south of Marion, going in through a window and taking a cigarette vending machine which they took to a woods on the Banks road and emptied of cigarettes and money. They came back into Marion, dropped one of the members and picked up two others and went back to the Mar-O-Del inn, smashing a juke box and taking some money. Then four of them went to the Sally Ann station at routes 30 and 37 west of Marion, planning a break-in. A dog barked so they threw a bottle through the window and drove on to Meeker, burglarizing a store there of a radio, chewing gum and seven cartons of cigarettes.

March 9—Four went to Worthington and broke into a big A & P store, taking bananas, 15 cartons of chewing gum, 200 cartons of cigarettes. They emptied two big sacks of sugar to get sacks on which to carry the cigarettes. On the way back they entered gas-line stations at Salford and Prospect to get gasoline coupons. They said they hid the loot in an abandoned school on Route 25.

One Accused of Sale

Wylie was not mentioned in the accounts of any of these crimes, but was brought into the case when other members said he took some of the cigarettes from the hiding place and sold them. Authorities said Wylie started this.

Authorities said the case was used to knock down the mail train and showed that the group was planning to break into the mail train.

DIES PLANS PROBE OF COMMENTATORS

WASHINGTON, March 13—Charging that "fully 60 per cent of the statements" of some radio commentators can be "proved to be utterly false," Chairman Dies (D-Tex.) said today the house committee on un-American activities may soon "investigate this matter on the ground that it is distinctly un-American."

Dies currently is engaged in a controversy with Walter Winchell, commentator and columnist, who declared in a broadcast last night efforts were being made in unidentified Washington circles to impugn his integrity.

Dies said in an interview his committee may subpoena the scripts of certain radio commentators over a period of several years to take each statement "and establish its truth or falsity."

The Texan said he proposed to find out whether broadcasting companies which permit dissemination of falsehoods would be willing "to afford maligned persons an opportunity to answer false charges over the same facilities and to the same audience."

STATE HEAD SPEAKS TO TOWNSHIP GROUP

Marion County Association
Hears Joe R. Thomas

The first quarterly meeting of the Marion County Township Trustees and Clerks association was held Friday night at Pleasant school under sponsorship of Waldo Green Camp Prospect. Supper was served at 7:30 to approximately 100 members and wives.

Joe R. Thomas of Hayesville, state president of the association, was guest speaker. He spoke on proposals of the state recodifying committee which he stated were following the pattern of centralization of government.

One of the committee's recommendations would place all road construction under the jurisdiction of the state. Unless local government takes a determined stand in its own behalf, Mr. Thomas warned, "grass roots government is on the way out."

A resolution against any changes in the highway system and one denouncing grabbing of power and centralization of local government were adopted by the association.

Ernest Miller of Grand Prairie township gave a report of the state convention held in January at Columbus.

Orville Bohlen of LaRue resigned as secretary-treasurer and County Engineer Johnson was elected to serve in that capacity.

Judge Hector S. Young gave a short eulogy on Harrison G. Kramer, late county commissioner, and Charles Ritzler, deputy clerk of the board of elections, who passed away recently. Both were associate members of the local association.

The next meeting will be held in June under sponsorship of Tully, Scott, Grand Prairie, Claridon and Richland townships.

"A" GAS RATION CUT MAY COME SHORTLY

WASHINGTON, March 13—The possibility that basic "A" gasoline rations in the mid-west and west may be trimmed from three to two gallons a week, to match the eastern seaboard ration, was acknowledged today by Colonel Bryan Houston, deputy administrator of the office of price administration.

Colonel Houston said the plan was advocated by the petroleum administration for war as a means of equalizing supplies over the country.

OPA's decision may be announced tomorrow, he said, if the civilian allocation of gasoline for the second quarter of the year starting April 1, is transmitted by the OPA tonight as expected.

If the mid-western and far western curtailment is ordered, it probably will be placed in effect by extending each series of A coupons to last three months instead of the present two months, officials said. It was acknowledged only a small savings in gasoline would be accomplished. PAW administrator Harold L. Ickes long has cherished the idea of putting rations on an equal basis over the nation.

PAW officials said the Atlantic coast allotment for the second quarter probably would provide as much gasoline for passenger car drivers as the allotment for the present quarter. The total civilian supply may be boosted from 372,000 barrels daily to around 400,000 barrels for the area.

The agricultural mid-west will require an even larger proportion of increase because of greater agricultural activity. Gasoline consumption in the middle west may rise by 15 per cent or more.

Barkley Sees President First Time Since Split

WASHINGTON, March 13—Senator Barkley (D-Ky.) called at the White House today for the first time since his recent unprecedented attack on President Roosevelt's veto of the new tax bill, which was followed by his resignation—and prompt reelection.

With other Democratic congressional leaders, Barkley saw the President at the usual Monday morning legislative conference of this group.

Organist To Give Concert Tonight

Final plans are being made today for the organ program to be presented by Edwin Arthur Kraft of Cleveland, tonight in First Presbyterian church. Appearing on the program as guest vocalist will be Mrs. M. D. Brickley, soprano, of Akron.

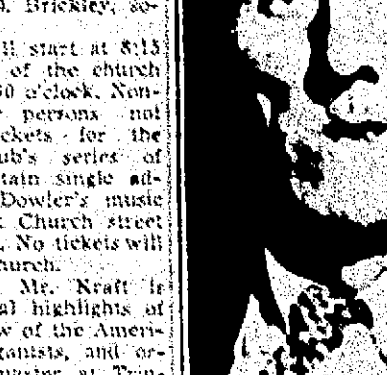

The program will start at 8:15 o'clock and doors of the church will be open at 7:30 o'clock. Non-club members or persons not holding season tickets for the Lecture-Recital club's series of programs may obtain single admissions at the Dowler's music store at 126 West Church street before the concert. No tickets will be sold at the church.

Presentation of Mr. Kraft is one of the musical highlights of the year. A fellow of the American Guild of Organists, and organist and choirmaster at Trinity Cathedral in Cleveland, he is widely known in the musical field throughout the country.

Mrs. Brickley, who is a niece of Miss Linda Withler and Dr. D. W. Brickley, has appeared on programs here on previous occasions.

AMERICAN OFFICER LEADS TITO'S TROOPS

LONDON, March 13—Yugoslav partisans commanded by a United States officer have captured the Port of Ploce on the northeast corner of Brae island off the Dalmatian coast, Marshal Tito's (Josip Broz) headquarters announced today.

Brac, a rugged 152 square-mile island, lies 10 miles southeast of the port of Split and has been used in the past as a submarine base.

The action again turned the spotlight on the Dalmatian islands. The Berlin radio asserted last week British and American commandos, led by a "Gen. Churchill" had landed on Lissa island to the southwest.

Allied headquarters in Italy announced British destroyers had bombarded German-held Korcula island two days in a row last week and today's allied communiqué told of the sinking of an enemy coastal vessel and the capture of a number of German prisoners March 10 in Neretva channel between Korcula and Lissa.

The Yugoslav communiqué said outnumbered partisans were locked in battle with the Germans on Hvar island.

Measure To Abolish FSA Offered in Congress

WASHINGTON, March 13—Legislation designed to abolish the farm security administration was offered in the house today by an agriculture subcommittee which has been investigating the agency.

The bill, introduced by Chairman Coley (D-NC), would transfer the assets of the FSA, Home Corp. and the Federal Farm Loan Administration to the Farmers Home Administration, and the emergency farm feed, seed and rehabilitation loans of the farm credit organization. Further, it would drastically limit the policies to be followed.

The farmers' home agency, created by congress in 1937 but never activated, would be directed by a president, vice president and secretary-treasurer, all named by the secretary of agriculture.

Tonight Sees 1st of Golden Gloves

Place—the Army on West Church street. Time—8 o'clock tonight, sharp.

The occasion—the opening of the 1944 Marion Golden Gloves boxing tournament.

These are the essential facts concerning the revival of the amateur ring sport in Marion, which will extend through three nights of festive fireworks.

Tonight's card, tentatively consisting of 15 to 16 fights, will inaugurate the tournament and tomorrow night, second round bouts and semi-finals will be held. Some preliminary elimination bouts may have to be carried over until tomorrow night if an unexpected large number of boys show up tonight. The championship finals, nine bouts, will be staged Friday night. Starting time for all three nights is 8 o'clock.

Drawings for tonight's fights are scheduled for 6:30 and physical examinations will be given to the fighters at that time by Dr. E. H. Morgan. Officials and the Y's Men's Service club, tournament sponsor, and Dr. A. J. Wagner, who will serve as referee for the bouts, decided that pairings should be held on the night of the fights in order to eliminate the possibility of cancellation of matches because of forfeit. In past Golden events here, when pairings were made several days before the opening of the tournament, some fights had to be called off because some participants didn't appear. This could not occur under the new arrangement, officials point out.

Dr. Weinbaum, city health commissioner, will assist Dr. Morgan in administering medical treatment to fighters tonight, if needed. Tomorrow night, Dr. E. H. Brady will be on hand and for the finals Friday, Dr. A. E. Morrison will do the patching up.

Meet At Armory at 6:30

All Golden Gloves workers, including trainers, various committee members of the Y's Men's club, fighters and seconds are requested to be at the Armory at 6:30 for the drawings and examinations.

Don Williamson, Y's Men's club president, reported Saturday that over $150 in tickets had been sold. Over half the supply for duca for tonight's fights had been purchased by the end of last week. Advance sales were made at Markert & Lewis clothing store. Tickets will be sold at the gate tonight and for the remaining two nights. Reserved seats cost $1.10 each and general admission, 75 cents.

Twenty-five tickets have been reserved for soldiers and officers of Camp Millard. Many more soldiers are expected at the fights, probably in the general admission section. Biggest single purchaser of tickets was the Foreman's club of the Marion Steam Shovel Co., which ordered a block of 75 and Camp Millard sold at the gate tonight and for the remaining two nights. Reserved seats cost $1.10 each and general admission, 75 cents.

Players Chant, "Take Me Out To the (C)old Ball Game"

All Games Tough in State Tourney as Race Narrows

COLUMBUS, O., March 13—Ohio's 1944 high school basketball tournament today had reached the stage where setups should be a thing of the past—every game looks like a tough one from here on in.

Thirty-two teams will vie for places in the final A and B tournaments.

Sixteen teams in each division won their way last week-end into the regional competition.

Canton and Akron each has two representatives in the regionals but Akron is the only one with a chance to cop both the A and B titles.

At Youngstown—Cleveland Heights vs. Canton Tinkens; Canton Lehman vs. Massillon.

At Bowling Green—Van Wert vs. Mansfield; Toledo Woodward vs. Findlay.

At Dennison—Newark, Coshocton, Akron North and Martins Ferry.

At Dayton—Marengo, Cincinnati Xavier, Middletown and Hamilton.

At Youngstown—Akron Ellet vs. Columbiana; Lowellville vs. Bellaire; St. John's.

At Bowling Green—Lima St. John's vs. Woodville; Whitehouse vs. Massillon.

At Logan—Grove City, Conning, Philo and Kitts Hill.

At Springfield—Worthington vs. Franklin; Tipp City vs. Wyoming.

The advance dope seemed to point to Tipp City, Lima St. John's, Philo and Akron Ellet as at least slight favorites in the four class B regionals.

But they're in for some rough going. Columbiana, for example, has won 21 of 23 games this season. Whitehouse has lost only once in 16 encounters.

The regionals at Youngstown will be played Thursday, Friday and Saturday. The games at Bowling Green will be run off Friday and Saturday and all others are scheduled for Saturday only.

Marion Team Now In Tourney 4th Place

The W. T. Grant company's Marion team bowled 2015 yesterday to move into fourth place in class C competition of the Ohio Women's bowling tournament as a result of games played yesterday in Columbus, according to an Associated Press dispatch.

No changes resulted in holders of first place yesterday. Among other teams bowling yesterday were the Carpenter Drug team of Delaware with a score of 2282 and Mansfield Provident loan of Mansfield with 2020, both in class B competition.

Margaret Lilly of Columbus, who rolled 604 in team competition, is favored for winning single championship, but she won't go on for singles and doubles until the last night of the tournament.

Universal To Try for Second County Title in Game Tonight

Universal Cooler's cagers will be vying for their second county amateur basketball title in as many years when they meet their arch rivals, the Huber Threshers, at the Y. M. C. A. at 8:30 tonight in the second championship play-off game.

The Cooler ice men scooped the first play-off tilt, 32 to 27, last Monday night.

Two other games are scheduled for the third floor gym of the Y tonight. Caledonia and Huber girls' teams will clash at 7:30 in a game to decide second place in the county women's league and at 8:30 Kirkpatrick and Local 1847.

Alloy Cast Steel, will get together to determine the third place winner in the men's circuit.

If Cooler gets by the dangerous Huberites tonight, they will be the official 1944 champs of the county loop, which consists of eight teams. Universal won the first round crown by a game margin over Huber. The Threshers came back to annex the second round title on six wins and no defeats. Cooler won the championship in the Y. M. C. A. County

Industrial league last season and as you might have guessed, Huber was their principal obstacle.

In case of a Huber triumph tonight, a rubber game in the two-out-of-three play-off series will be held at the Y tomorrow night.

Marion Mewhorter, Y program director, said. Starting time would be 8 o'clock and no preliminary engagements would be played.

The Caledonia and Huber feminine outfits finished with 16 points each this season to tie for second place. The Fairfield girls won the title. Kirkpatrick's up-and-coming club wound up with six victories and one loss in second round men's league action while their foe tonight, Alloy, had a five-and-two record for third place in the first round.

The champions in the men's and women's leagues will receive pennants, to be awarded at the annual Y. M. C. A. basketball banquet which will be held late this month or early next month. The second and third place teams in each league also will receive pennants.
